NARCOTIC LICENSES ARE NECESSARY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Owing to the fact that a large percentage of the younger physicians, dentists, veterinarians, druggists and hospital interns have been called to active war service, Collector of Internal Revenue Justus S. Wardell attaches unusual importance to annual registration under the Harrison narcotic law.

In anticipation of this condition, the department this year simplified the registration and inventory forms. It is estimated by Deputy Collector Hugh O'Connor, in charge of the division, that more than 5000 persons in this district come under the requirements of the narcotic law. Blank forms and full instructions are being sent out calling for annual registration, the fee being one dollar, now due and payable.

As a revenue producer the narcotic division just about pays its way, yet Collector Wardell regards it as one of the most important in his office. "Throughout the first California district, and especially in the larger cities," said Collector Wardell, "federal control of the narcotic drug traffic has produced wonderful remedial results. This statement is borne out by police records and reports of state institutions and private hospitals and sanitariums."

SIX MILES OF TRACK WASHED BY STORMS

The washout near Thorne, which delayed all trains from the north yesterday, was not repaired until late this morning, when the delayed mail and passengers were taken through to Mina. The train arrived in Tonopah this morning at 7:45, about 26 hours late, but, even at that, the railroad men say the work of repairing was the fastest job they ever saw undertaken or handled by a wrecking gang. The washout extended for a distance of six miles on account of the flood rushing down the hillside and going clean under the tracks that are laid on a gravel roadbed along the Walker lake shore. All trains were held at Schurz until evening when the shortage of provisions compelled the conductor to run back to Hazen where the passengers were given a substantial dinner and the train held for No. 2 coming from Reno last evening.

Yesterday the Tonopah & Goldfield expected to have its tracks south of Tonopah in shape to send the Reno train through to the scene of the washout of Thursday night, but this was impossible owing to another washout that occurred last evening at about 7 o'clock, which carried out a portion of the roadbed five miles north of Klondyke and near McSweeney's siding. This latter strip will be restored by tomorrow and Manager Forster is confident that he will be able to transfer without any further trouble and that by Monday a through service will be restored.

The mail from Goldfield was taken over last night by the stage line by agreement with the railroad company which has the contract for delivery all through mail. Another lot was forwarded today by the same means. The Goldfield stage road is reported to be smoother and better than at any time during the past two years owing to the fact that the heavy downpour beat the surface down until it is as hard and smooth as a boulevard.

HUGH H. BROWN ELECTED MEMBER EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE PEACE LEAGUE

Hugh Henry Brown received this week from New York a notification of his re-election as a member of the national executive committee of the League to Enforce Peace. The other western members of the committee are Governor Lister of Washington, Governor Capper of Kansas, and President Suzzalo of the State University of Washington. The league is a "win-the-war" organization. Its program aims at the development of President Wilson's plan for a league of nations. William H. Taft is the president of the organization and Alton B. Parker is vice-president. They and their associates, together with similar affiliated organizations in the allied countries, are working on the machinery of an international pact which, it is hoped, will prevent the recurrence of another world cataclysm like the one we are now facing. Lord Robert Cecil, of the British cabinet, and Lord Bryce, formerly ambassador to the United States, are the principal spokesmen for the movement in England. Viviani, D'Estournelles and others are its chief exponents in France. The leaders in Italy also are committed to the plan. Even among the central powers there are a few men of clear vision, like Von Dufelbruck in Germany and Apponyi in Austria, who realize that the future of civilization is discouraging unless we learn from this war how to avoid war in the future.

Speaking today of the organization, Mr. Brown said:

"With the guns booming in France and our own men swinging into the contest, we must confess that it is difficult to plan for the great day of cutting may be, we must prepare for using victory even while we are fighting for it, or we shall fail to meet the test either of the present or future. The League to Enforce Peace places the supreme emphasis upon winning the war. Without that, all is lost. But the war is to be won. Any other conclusion is unthinkable. And when the war is won, a league of nations, standing for right and justice, as generally outlined by President Wilson in his various utterances on that great subject, must rise from the defeat of autocratic might.

"Since the last meeting of the League to Enforce Peace, held two years ago in Washington, which Mrs. Brown and I attended as representatives from the state of Nevada, the principles of the league have become the goal and inspiration of the united democratic nations in a world war. Its fundamental proposal is that the nations that cherish international justice and public right should make common cause against a determined disturber of the world's peace. This is now being done. The battle is now on which will determine whether or not that proposal is practicable. The winning of this war, therefore, is the first and essential step toward the realization of the league's program. The league has a double obligation,—to help win the war and to plan to make the fruits of victory secure. The work of this organization is of the deepest import to the world. If it should fail, a generation or a century might pass before another opportunity to set up a league of nations would be presented comparable to the present one."

ROUND MOUNTAIN SETS AN EXAMPLE

Round Mountain, Nevada, with a population of 200, and lying 63 miles from a railroad, has again distinguished itself by going over the top on sales of war savings stamps, the total amount to $24.94 per capita.

The council of defense has prepared a statement, the figures of which are extremely interesting, it shows that the subscription for the first and second loan bonds were $37,000, all of which was credited elsewhere. Third loan, quota $9000, subscriptions, handled at home, $41,050; in addition to these figures, subscriptions amounting to $14,250, were credited elsewhere, making the total for the third loan, $55,300. Added to the foregoing, for the first and second loans, $37,000, making a total for Liberty bonds of $92,300, or $464.50 per capita.

The Red Cross sewing rooms have been in operation daily for the past seven months, the auxiliary owning knitting and sewing machines, all expenses being met by voluntary subscriptions.

Subscriptions to the American Red Cross aggregate $1238, and to other war welfare organization $183 has been subscribed, a total of $1421, or $7.10 per capita.

The camp is also proud of the fact that it is the foster parent of one of the French orphans.

Summing up the total for a family of five amounts to $2482.70.

Over 90 per cent of the inhabitants are subscribers to the third Liberty loan.

Round Mountain has 14 of her boys at the front and four in training camps and if the age limit is raised she will have quite a few more.

AMUSEMENTS

SOMETHING DIFFERENT AT THE BUTLER

Owing to the non-arrival of the train yesterday the good program that was advertised for yesterday did not arrive, consequently, an emergency picture was used, so rather than pass up this good program we are going to show it today. It is a different program from the ordinary seen at the Butler, although made up of eight reels, but each feature in one, two and three reels. One of the features is the Tonopah pictures of the "twenty-eight Serbians" who left for the front last week. Another feature will be Pearl White, who will appear in the first installment of "The House of Hate," in three reels. Miss White, who is always a great favorite, is cast in a role that promises to be full of exciting interest. One feature of all Pearl White's pictures is that any one who witnesses one or a dozen of them always get a run for their money. The next celebrity on today's program is Charlie Chaplin, in a two-reel Mutual comedy, "The Rink"; the next star, "Fatty" Arbuckle, comes in a great comedy, "A Country Hero," and it is a good one; guarantees a laugh a second. The last subject is "Animal Movements Analyzed by the Motion Picture Camera." This is without doubt one of the best programs ever shown at the Butler.

Tomorrow, Carlyle Blackwell and Madge Evans, in "The Burglar," also, "Vengeance and the Woman."
